

Leak Tightness Test Machine under Internal Bending Pressure

- Used for performing leak testing between mechanical joints and hydrostatic internal pressure pipes while subjected to bending
- This device has the appropriate fixtures (radius and length) of bends with specified diameters in accordance with the standard ISO 3503
- Featured with an electro motor or gearbox for bending the pipe on the fixtures
- Performing test in accordance with INSO 13502, ISO 3503 standards

